Books are our best friends. So we always look forward for the D.E.A.R. classes. —Harsh Raj (4'D)

D E A R DROP EVERYTHING AND READ

When the DEAR class was first introduced I thought it would be boring. But when I got books to read I found it very interesting. —Sonakshi Raj (1'D)

I became very happy when the Dear period was started in our school. Since there are hardly any good libraries for the children of the city this new method is serving a good purpose. It enhances our knowledge and develops the reading habit. —Shriya (4'D)

D.E.A.R. - Drop Everything And Read - a remarkable and unique project was introduced in our school this year which has created a revolution among the children. The children who never wanted to turn the pages of story books except to see the colourful pictures are now found deep in reading in their free time.

The D.E.A.R. classes have enabled the children to improve their vocabulary and reading skill. It has created a great interest among the children for story books. Books are our best friends and I am happy to see that our children are now aware of it. —Sabita Shah (Class Teacher Std. 3)

Now a days very few people like to read books. People who read are never lonely. They say, "Books are their best friends. They give them company".

There is no doubt about the fact that books are very useful. They give us advice, ideas, knowledge and also a lot of pleasure.

So, to improve the habit of reading in students, we have introduced a special class called DEAR which means DROP EVERYTHING AND READ. This good step helped the children very much and they could read more story books. I like this initiative taken by the management. —B. Radhamani (2'G)
